IIMT IN NEWS

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

I am delighted to extend my sincere appreciation to the team behind the launch of our new college-level newsletter. This initiative reflects your dedication, creativity, and commitment to strengthening academic communication within the institution. Efforts such as these ensure that IIMT continues to evolve by embracing innovative teaching methodologies and progressive institutional practices.

Looking ahead, my vision for the IIMT Group of Institutions is focused on building a more robust and student-centric enrollment management framework that effectively supports learner success. Alongside this, we remain committed to expanding academic and institutional partnerships—both nationally and internationally. Such collaborations will expose our students to diverse perspectives, global best practices, and enhanced learning opportunities, thereby enriching their overall educational experience.

During this quarter, the institution successfully organized a wide range of conferences, training programs, and workshops across disciplines, including media, management, business, and technology. Eminent academicians and industry experts from reputed institutions in India and abroad actively participated in these events. Their insights and experiences have provided our students with valuable exposure, fresh perspectives, and practical understanding in their respective fields.

As Swami Vivekananda rightly said, “Truth can be stated in a thousand different ways, yet each one can be true.” Education at IIMT aims to help students discover that truth—an education that builds character, strengthens the mind, broadens the intellect, and empowers individuals to stand confidently on their own feet.

This newsletter serves as a reflection of the vibrant academic and co-curricular activities undertaken by our BBA, BJMC, B.Com, and BCA departments. It keeps students, faculty, and staff informed about the dynamic developments on our campus. I hope you find this edition informative and engaging. We warmly welcome your feedback, suggestions, and ideas, as collaboration and a shared vision are key to achieving greater visibility, meaningful partnerships, and sustained success.

Together, we look forward to continuing our journey of excellence and innovation at IIMT.
